Russia Imprisons Six American Citizens.

Their Release Refused When Officially Demanded-General Boulanger's Mysti

Lowney Nov. 10 -Six American citizen have been arrested in Southern Russia for preaching in an orthodox assembly of Russians. Mr. Lothrop, the United States Minister at St. Petersburg, has been endeavoring to induce the authorities to release the prisoners, but so far has been unsuccess ul. London, Nov. 15.—General Boulanger's speech has succeeded admirably in mystifying people as to whether he wants war or peace, and many are the hot discussions by statesmen of tap rooms and of the clubs. It was known that he intended a rebuke to those who attributed to him a desire for war, and the oration dwelt clearly, but without enthusiasm, on his love of peace. The result has had but little effect in changing the opinion of either side. A large number of people believe that although he desires in time of peace to prepare fully for war merely as a wise precaution, nevertheless he intends to incite a national clamor for revenge before the exhibition of 1889, and few believe in the sincerity of his alleged desire for a permanent peace which the ing to induce the authorities to release the Hungry Boarders Astonished With Roas Chicken for Supper-Terrible Fight Be tween Seven Men Over It.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- A boarding-house at No. 59 Ogden street, Newark, is kept by John H. Witten, who also runs a bar, while his wife, who weighs about 250 pounds, has charge of the house. There are eight male boarders. Seven of the boarders were at was placed on the supper table. Immedi ately one of the boarders reached over and seizing the fowl, placed it on his plate. Indignant remonstrance arose but the appropriator of the lonely fowl announced his intention to hold on to it. There were three additional chickens in the kitchen ready for the table, but before the landlady could interpose a word the boarders arose from their seats, and, seizing knives and crockery, a general fightRegan, some attacking the man withlithe fowl and others defending him. A telephone call was sent for the police, who arrived in fifteen minutes. All but two of the combatants had left the house. Thos. Campbell was found with a gash four inches long on his neck, running from his left ear to his windpipe. He was bleeding badly. John Welsh had a bad cut on his head from some instrument, both his eyes were closed, and his face had been pounded until it was a mass of bruises and cuts. The other boarders, who escaped, were said to be more or less battered. The two men were taken to the Second Precinct Police Station in an ambulance, and their wounds were dressed. They were permitted to return to the house. The dining-room was a complete wreck, even the table being broken into fragments. fowl announced his intention to

Wife-Trading In North Carolina.

CHATHAM, N. C., Nov. 15 .- A white nan, Moore, was sent to the chain-gang Saturday for having traded wives with another man. When Judge Gilmer asked him what he had to say asked him what he had to say why sentence should not be passed he replied that he did not know that his act was a crime. A man came to his house with a woman who was better looking than his own wife and bantered him for a trade, so he "swapped" and paid $1.50 to boot. As this was his first "swap," he hoped that the court would impose a light sentence. The other man, who was a party to the trade, has not been apprehended.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

olonel Ingersoll Refuses to Take Up the Case Efforts to Find a Supreme Judge. CHICAGO, Nov. 14 .- A letter received from Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, says that he had not the time to connect himself in any way with the case of the Anarchists, and therefore would have nothing whatever to do with it. The certificate of evidence of the bill of exceptions has at last been signed, filed and put on record in the office of the Clerk of the Criminal Court. Tomorrow the paper—or bale of paper will be transcripted to the Supreme Court. The deteuse will then proceed to reach the ear of any member of the Supreme Bench, as the Court is now in session, and from him endeavor to secure a supersedeas to restrain the execution of the sentence. At the March term of the Supreme Court the case will be called for consideration. Thus, the condamned men are respited for many months, although Mr. Grinnell has said by way of argument: "A supersedeas may not be granted"—a conting-ncy which is, however, not to be reasonably anticipated. do with it. New York, Nov. 12 .- Through the untir ng efforts of an unmarried sister negotiations for settlement have been open ween friends of John C. Eno and the directors of the Second National Bank, from whom he embezzled over $2,500,000. The round millions were made good by his father, and the directors had to supply the remainder. The United States District remainder. The United States District Attorney confessed to-day to a knowledge of the negotiations, but declined to say whether or not he would quash the indictment if they were successful. A friend of the family says when Eno received a letter from his sister telling him what had been done, he took an early morning train at Montreal, and, reaching this city at night, repaired to the paternal mansion on Fifth avenue. He wore a heavy Canadian ulster and a soft felt hat. The collar of the cost was turned up, and served to completely hide his features. No one would have recognized him in that attire, and certainly none suspected him. It was said that he actually hungered for a look at the old house and the society of his family, and had taken a desperate chance. The next night he returned to Canada.

A DARING PROJECT.

an Army of One Hundred Thousand to Invade Mexico by New Year's. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 12 .- Captain Edward Friend, of the El Paso Rifles, has arrived here and opened a roll for recruits to join Cutting's filibustering expedition into Mexico. The expedition thoroughly organized within a month, and the insurgents will rendezvous at El Paso, from which point they will invade the Mexican Republic. The men who are being enlisted are well-known characters, desperate in the extreme, and capable of causing serious international trouble. Associated with the movement are some wealthy men of Chicago and New York, who are raising troops in this locality. Three prominent Catholic priests are also in the scheme, and one of them has gone to Rome to enlist the Pope's sympathy. The Yaqui Indians, the hostiles of Mexico, are also associated in the enterprise. Over 10,000 names are already signed, and the movement is growing so rapidly that by the first of the year an army of 100,000 will be ready to be hurled into Mexico. The plan of the new Government has been formulated. It is to be a Socialistic Republic, heid in check by a strong military power. Great inducements are to be offered to the unemployed workingmen of the United States to emigrate thither. and the insurgents will rendezvous at

FASHION LETTER

New Styles in Fall and Winter Outlits— Something About Bonnets.
[New York Special Correspondence.]
Fashionable modistes are all busy pre-paring winter outlits, consisting of En-glish homespun and English serge tailor-made suits for utility wear, more elabo-rate costumes of cheviot, camel's hair, tweed and the like, combined with plush or vel-vet for church, visiting and similar uses; the costumes of velvet for full dress occasions made long or short, to suit individual taste, style of figure and age. Corded silk of the softest texture striped with bands of velvet is very fashionably used upon hand-some gowns of plain dove gray, dark blue or golden brown armure, tricot or camel's hair. The groundwork of the striped silk which forms the panels, etc., invaria-bly corresponds in hue with the tint of the woolen goods with which it is combined.

The guard's colors promise to be as ashionable as ever this season, and red and deep Russian blue bids fair to become almost a uniform in itself, so popular has the combination grown. This mixture, known as the Princess of Wales' colors, shows itself this aushows itself this fabric from serge to satin, and from the plainest morning dress to the most magnificent evening and reception toilets. Ecru and golden brown are also highly favored, these colors showing themselves particu larly among elegant church costumes, made with a jacket or polonaise of golden brown plush. French pol-onaises, with the onaises, with the bodice fastening from left to right across th chest, are seen upon the latest models in VISITING COSTUMES. OVERdresses. They conform admirably with the fashion of raising the skirt of the polonaise high on necessitate a sloping seam down the cen-ter of the front to secure a perfect fit. Other new polonaises from an English house show the fronts cut away, revealing a moliere waistcoat beneath. At each side are draperies almost in panier effects, being suitable for slender women only. For stouter figures are models which show the form at each side of the front extending in to wide panels which are variously trimmed with jetted applique bands feather trimming, natural beaver, blue fox and other handsome furs. En suite with these in many instances are tiny muffs of velvet decorated to correspon ready for use later on. Braids and gal-loons, woven, braided, beaded and em-broidered, continue in vogue and appear in the guise of bretelles on corsages around the lower edge of the basque, at the wrists of sleeves, and extending up the seam, as a bordering on skirts and overskirts, and finally, the richest and most striking designs are used to define panels and tab-liers on skirts and for ornamenting wrap-pings of every description. A propos of outside garments, the requirements of the weather may de-cide. The fronts are half-loose even when the jacket is buttoned, but the back fits very closely and the entire garment is several inches longer than most of the jackets worn last spring. Though there is but slight variation in the shape, considerable obtained by the use of many different matement of plain instead of fancy cloth, or giving it a d cided English effect, "don't you know," by makwrap of checked material with hood at the back gayly lined, and using larg bronze buttons instead of smaller one of gilt or smoke pearl. There are again trimmings of astra-chan, fea her bands, or fur upon the coat

R

PROMENADE CLOAK. Trifling, however, as these varieties are, they serve to prevent that tiresome similarity which too often be comes monotonous and common. Skirts exceedingly full at the back are still holding their sway both here and abroad, but it is still matter of congratulation that the absurdly bouffant crinoline is kept in abeyance on this side of the water. It is true that many of the best-dressed women wear the tournure, but instead of ungainly steel they content themselves with boxplaited folds of very stiff muslin or crinoline fastened law or the incide. line fastened low on the inside of the dress skirt on the back. It is con-sidered exceedingly bad taste to wear the tournure high up to the waist. In new millinery wares are close, graceful cottage bonnets, whose pretty shapes are almost spoiled by the towering trim-mings built upon the fronts. These do not suit long siender faces, and the only way to render them satisfactory is to purchase the little velvet or felt bonnet, and then order the trimmings to be lowered to ren-der the bonnet a thing of beauty, sure to prove becoming. The new fishwife poke is chic, natty and stringless, and has a full puffed brim of velvet, a round soft crown, and is trimmed with beaded aigrette loops of satin and velvet Picot ribbon. The bon-net is made of all the rich full shades in russet and golden brown, ruby, moss green etc. One pretty model is made of dark wine velvet trimmed, with a net work of pink and ruby beads and a cluster of pink ostrich tips drooping over the full puffer velvet brim. Qualified as a Cook

A.New York gentleman hired a cook because her recommendations were good, and moreover she asserted that she had cooked for a gentleman whose good table is celebrated. Much to the disgust of her employer, her cooking was simply horrible, so he called her into his presence and said:

"Bridget, when I hired you you told me that you were qualified as a cook, and that you had been a cook at the Bondclipper villa on the Hudson."

"And so I was, sor; I cooked the turnips for the pigs in a big boiler, sor."—Texas Siftings.

THE PACKERS BACK DOWN.

They Rescind Their Resolution to Refuse Employment to Knights of Labor, but Will Rold Out for the Ten-Hour Day— The Stock Yards Garrisoued by Over a Thousand Armed Men.

The Stock Yards Garrisoned by Over a Thousand Armed Men.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The first overtures toward a settlement of the great strike at the Stock Yards were made quietly yesterday by the packers rescinding the resolution never again to employ Knights of Labor or union men until they resigned from those organizations. The situation at the yards remained unchanged throughout the day, the action of the packers not having been heard of until late at night. The employee of the large houses were paid off, and this, added to the prevalent despondency among the strikers over the hopelessness of their case, was productive of much more general intexication than has yet been noticed, but notwithstanding disturbances were less frequent than on either Monday or Tuesday.

Representatives of all the packing firms met in the directors' room of the Board of Trade upon an urgent call yesterday. The meeting was private, but, like most private meetings of these days, it was only semi-private. This much became evident. The chief Knight of Labor representative in the city had met some one of the packers, authorized to speak for all the rest, and there had taken place between them a general discussion of the situation. That discussion had reached a conclusion on two points. One was that the packers at their last meeting had struck a blow at the whole organization of Knights. The other was that, in turn, the boycott on Chicago meats had been ordered or was about to be. From organization of Knights. The other was that, in turn, the boycott on Chicago meats had been ordered or was about to be. From these two points the two representatives argued out the question. Now there has been two results. One is the action taken by the Packers' Association and the other is the action taken by the Knights.

a series of resolutions was adopted setting forth that inasmuch as the packers had become convinced that the resolutions adopted at a recent meeting declaring that no man would be employed by them unless he severed his connection with labor organiza-tions were unjust to numerous persons who are members of such organizations, those resolutions should be rescinded, and the following resolutions be adopted as being more in accord with the mutual interest of the employers and employed, to-wit: WHEREAS, The packers are confronted with the fact that their employes are repeatedly leaving their employment without notice to them and to the great detriment of their business, which is of such a nature as to require constant prosecution and careful attention, "Recoived, That while we will not exclude from employment the members of such organ izations, we will exercise the right to employ and discharge whom we please and conduct our business on the ten-hour plan and according to our best interests."

The action taken or yet to be taken by the head and front of the strikers, it was hinted last night, would be that inasmuch as the packers had recognized the Knights. of Labor and rescinded their former reso-lution against that order, and inasmuch as the strike had been precipitated by the local authorities against the wishes of Mr. Barry, the chief representative of Mr. Powderly, now in the city, the strike has been or will be declared off, and all the old hands ordered back to work. The neckers it has been and stick to the ten all the old hands ordered back to work. The packers, it has been said, stick to the tenhour principle, this having been conceded to them on the ground that they will withdraw their boycott on the Knights of Labor, the Knights in turn to withdraw their proposed boycott on the product of the Chicago packing houses.

Another view of the case, suggested by a friend of the packers last evening, is that the packers became convinced that their resolution of the previous day was wrong in principle, and that many members of various labor unions or other organizations might have paid in money for benevolent or insurance purposes which their lent or insurance purposes which their resignation would annul. For these res-sons the resolutions were rescinded and the new ones substituted. In accordance with the determination reached by General Fitz Simons Tuesday, a special order was issued from brigade headquarters at the Stock Yards that the commanding officer of the First Cavalry detail one troop of the command to join the two regiments at the yards, the troop to ship their horse equipments and come fully armed and equipped for service, carrying carbines and revolvers with rounds of ball cartridges and twenty rounds of revolver amunition. In accordance with the order, Colonel Jacobs detailed Troop D, consisting of fifty men under Captain Ole Hough, belonging to his command, and dispatched them to the yards. With this latest addition the brigade is now complete and fully equipped for any emergency that can possibly arise. The Gatling gun stands in the yard covered with heavy canvass, and under the immediate eye of a guard, ready for use when the call comes, but that is among the least of the expectations.

New York. Nov. 11.—The wholesale butchers of Washington market say they do not believe that there will be any real attempt made by the Western packers to bring cattle East and then kill th that opinion they agree with the representatives in this city of the Western packers. One wholesale butcher said he understood that about 300 oxen had been killed and dressod in New Jersey this week for a Western packer. The report, however, could not be verified. The men who actually kill and dress the cattle here are all union men, and they will not kill any cattle for the Western will not kill any cattle for the Western packers so long as the strike lasts, and if any wholesale dealers here or any where East attempts to assist the Western packers by arranging for their cattle to be killed here a strike of all the union butchers would immediately be ordered. The agents of the Chicago packers say that a car-load of cattle may be killed for Western packers here and there in some of the towns along the route to supply the local trade.
